Another Open Road Race season comes to a close with the successful finish of two Panteras at the Silver State Classic Challenge. Travelling along as part of the team again this year was Paul Katchadourian from Katch Environmental (the team's major sponsor) in his 2013 Dodge Viper. All three cars started and all three finished the 90 mile course at triple digit speeds. The story began shortly after Sandhills Open Road Challenge.

Mark Skwarek returned to his home in Connecticut with his race-prepared Orange Pantera to clean up some details and perform more work to get ready for the SSCC race. Mark leaves for Ely, Nevada just a few days prior to the start of the event and arrives on Wednesday. Meanwhile, Asa Jay Laughton travelled to Fresno, California to hook up with Dennis (Mad Dog) Antenucci and Paul Katchadourian. By Thursday night, all were assembled in Ely.
